A solid-phase immunoassay, based on a competitive enzyme immunoassay (EIA) principle, for determination of the pesticide parathion (0.1-10 ng/mL) in water was developed. The method requires no pre-treatment of the sample, only addition of standard or sample to the wells of a microtiter plate coated with anti-parathion antibodies, and measurement of the bound enzyme-labeled parathion by chromogenic substrate. The assay was linear, reproducible, and accurate for water samples. This assay should provide a simple, sensitive, and specific method for monitoring and detection of parathion 82157476af
